In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear daughter, Mrs. Annie Laura Mann, who was killed in car and train crash January 14, 1956.

No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain we have suffered,
Since we last saw you,
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly, tender, fond and true.
There is not a day, dear Laura,
That we do not think of you.

POULTY HOUSE VENTILATION IMPORTANT TO PRODUCTION

How the poultry house is ventilated has a lot to do with how healthy the birds are and how many eggs they lay.

G. D. Kite, agricultural engineer at VPI, says poultrymen would do well to check their houses for good ventilation. Poultry does best at temperatures from 40 to 70 degrees.

Windows on the east and west sides of the house should be spaced about one to every 10 feet of wall. Kite says to guard against having too many windows. The continuous type is not recommended in Virginia. Roof ventilators, roof insulation and tight walls also are aids to good ventilation.

The engineer warns that if there is wet litter in the poultry house, it's a pretty sure sign of bad ventilation.

Why?
Small Brother: Mr. Golden, are you a baseball player?

Mr. Golden: No, Willie, I'm not. I never enjoy little about the game.

Willie: Then why did Sis tell Ma that you were such a good catch?

Rev. R. Q. Lawing will attend the special planning meeting of the V. T. A. in Richmond this Saturday at 10 A. M.

Pamplin Farmers To Hold Classes

The Agricultural Committee of the Pamplin Ruritan Club announces that an adult farmer evening class will begin in the Pamplin School, Thursday night, February 7. The committee has selected some of the topics which will be studied in a series of ten classes. The Ruritan committee members, Cecil Ligon, Earl Smith, E. M. Sears, Luther Nash, and James Rosser, met recently with W. Lewis Motley, vocational agriculture instructor, to make plans for the adult farmers evening class. The Ruritan Club of Pamplin co-sponsors these evening classes with the Department of Vocational Agriculture of Appomattox County.

According to Cecil Ligon, class president, the following subjects are tentatively planned to be taken up at the meetings: Land Surveying, Keeping Farm Records, Study of Lime and its Farm Uses, Maintaining Soil Fertility, Controlling Brucellosis (Bang's Disease), and Controlling Alfalfa Insects. Other topics to be discussed will be chosen by the class at its first meeting. A list of the exact meeting dates and consultants who will meet with the group will be announced later.

Income Tax Payment Due

State income tax payment on 1956 income is now due and payable. Payment must be made before May 1, 1957, to avoid a five per cent penalty.

This is a result of new legislation passed by the Virginia General Assembly, and is known as the "accelerated state income tax program."

In passing the legislation, the General Assembly stated that new expenses for capital improvements at state institutions, especially the mental hospitals, and at institutions of higher learning, etc. required either new and additional taxes, or a stepping up of payment date for state income taxes.

The acceleration plan does not affect the other county and town taxes. Only state income taxes are involved.

Farmers Union State Meeting

James G. Patton, president, and Gus F. Geissler, vice-president of the National Farmers Union, will head a quartet of nationally-known speakers who will adadress the third annual convention of the Virginia Farmers Union in Richmond January 24-25.

Also scheduled to speak during the two-day session in Richmond's Hotel Jefferson are Representative Robert Poage, of Texas, and Leon H. Keyserling, former chairman of President Truman's Council of Economic Advisors.

Peyton Harvey, president of the Appomattox County Farmers Union, said yesterday that 360 delegates from all parts of Virginia, including six from this county, will attend the convention.

Delegates from Appomattox who have signfied their intention of attending the convention include: I. B. Wheeler, J. Alvin Jr., C. S. Rush, Peyton Harvey, Martin E. Kraus, and Senator C. T. Moses.

Mr. Harvey said that the principle purpose of the convention will be to formulate a legislative policy and agricultural program which the Virginia Farmers Union will follow in 1957.
